Nuveen Forms Investment Teams
(John Nuveen & Co adopts team approach to portfolio investment management of its $63 bil in assets managed to court more business)
Bank Investment Services Report, v 6, n 25, p 3
June 22, 1998
WORD COUNT: 152

TEXT:

John Nuveen & Co. has changed the way it manages its different mutual funds in an effort to increase sales to banks and other customers.

The Chicago-based asset management company has embraced the team concept and is joining together its previously separate portfolio managers and analysts into dedicated investment teams.

The first restructuring will assemble teams by product type. A later refinement of the organizational change will organize the teams by region of the country.

The redesign of the investment structure is intended to boost Nuveen's sales of mutual funds. The company has long sold it funds, particularly its bond funds, through the banking channel. Two years ago, it introduced its first line of equity funds. The company's largest selling product in the bank channel is the unit trust. The unit trusts, a spokesman said, will have dedicated investment teams like the Nuveen mutual funds and managed accounts.,

Nuveen manages or oversees $63 billion in assets.

May 23, 1997

The ministry is prohibiting the unit from signing new trust contracts for one month starting 6/2/97. Nikko Securities Investment Trust & Management acknowledged that it sold Euroyen bonds to a securities company at too high a price in 1994 when it was confronted with massive cancellations of long-term government bonds. In exchange, Nikko Securities Investment Trust & Management purchased some Euroyen bonds from the company for a price approximately Y2.5 bil higher than the market price and placed the bonds in its short-term bond investment trust and money management funds.

NationsBank Quitting Bond Administration Business

(NationsBank will sell its bond trustee, paying agent, registrar and escrow operations by end-1995)

American Banker, v CLX, n 53, p 32

March 20, 1995

ABSTRACT:

NationsBank Corp (Charlotte, NC) will by end-1995 sell its bond trustee, paying agent, registrar and escrow operations and withdraw from the bond administration segment of the corporate trust business. Through 87 offices in nine states and the District of Columbia, NationsBank Trust's corporate trust unit administers $167 bil worth of debt securities and services more than 71,500 accounts. NationsBank Trust president James B Sommers explains that the bond administration business simply is not growing fast enough to meet its return-on-equity goals. NationsBank Trust has therefore decided to concentrate more on corporate asset and investment management and retirement services. NationsBank Trust has $57.4 bil of total managed assets and $163.6 bil of assets under administration.
